TRACEY A. SOLOMON, CPA

PARTNER

Tracey joined Bartlett, Pringle & Wolf, LLP in 2003. She has a diverse portfolio of clients, including start-up companies and governmental entities as well as for-profit and not-for-profit organizations.

As a partner in the firm's audit department, Tracey is experienced in planning, supervising and executing audit and accounting engagements. Her specialties include employee benefit plan audits, special district audits and accounting consulting. Additionally, she is actively involved with closely held companies in a wide range of industries, such as technology and service, where she has expertise in complex accounting transactions, including equity-based transactions and corporate reorganizations.

Tracey is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA) and the California Society of CPAs (CalCPA). She is also a member of the Santa Barbara Foundation's Audit Committee.

As a graduate from the University of California, Santa Barbara (UCSB), Tracey received her Bachelor of Arts in Business Economics with an emphasis in Accounting and a minor in Global Peace and Security.

Tracey is a native of Santa Barbara and enjoys being outdoors and spending time with her family.
