TRACEY SOLOMON, CPA

PARTNER

Tracey joined Bartlett, Pringle & Wolf, LLP in 2003. She has a diverse portfolio of clients, including closely held companies, governmental entities, and not-for-profit organizations.

As a partner in the firm's audit department, Tracey is experienced in planning, supervising and executing audit and accounting engagements. She has two decades of experience performing financial statement audits for companies and nonprofit organizations. Tracey's other specialties include employee benefit plan audits, special district audits, and accounting consulting. Additionally, she is actively involved with technology and start-up companies in a wide range of industries where she has expertise in complex accounting transactions, including equity-based transactions and corporate reorganizations.

Tracey serves on the UCSB Economic Forecast Project's Board of Directors and is the Governance & Nominating Committee Chair. She is also a member of the Santa Barbara Foundation's Audit Committee and Cyber Security Committee and was recently appointed to the Scholarship Foundation's Board of Directors.

Tracey is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA) and the California Society of CPAs (CalCPA). She was named Accountant of the Year by California's Special District Association and named a Top 50 Women in Business and Who's Who in Professional Services by the Pacific Coast Business Times.

As a graduate from the University of California, Santa Barbara (UCSB), Tracey received her Bachelor of Arts in Business Economics with an emphasis in Accounting and a minor in Global Peace and Security.

Tracey is a native of Santa Barbara and enjoys being outdoors and spending time with her family.
